

The Tzolk'in Clock – Jaguar Trecena

Here is a link to my new book: The Twenty Trecenas of the Tzolk'in

The Tzolk'in relates to many aspects of our human experience. One of these aspects is the human mind. We have a left and right side of our brain. The left side of your brain controls the right side of your body, and vice versa. Your corpus callosum is the connection between the left and right side of your brain.

Just like your brain, the Tzolk'in Clock also has a left (north) and right (south) side. As the energy moves from south to north, it crosses the centerline on 7-Ahau to 8-Crocodile of this trecena. Halfway around the Tzolk'in Clock, 130 days later, it crosses from the north side to the south side on 7-Dog to 8-Monkey on the seed trecena.

The south side is equivalent to the left brain and the north side is equivalent to the right brain. The north side starts with 1-transformer and the south side starts with 1-wisdom. This relates to the wisdom, or logic side of the left brain and the imagination, or dream state of the right brain.

Every 260 days the cycle repeats. This is how the 3D version of the Tzolk'in Clock frames your mind.

There are ball courts in the Navajo nation. Both the Navajo and Maya have twin heroes. Maya chocolate has been found in New Mexico at Chaco Canyon. What if the Navajo people had the imagination to make their sacred home in the shape of the Tzolk'in Clock? And, the Navajo hoogan is shaped identical to the Tzolk'in Clock, which has the same 3 trecena, 2 trecena pattern. The dimensions of a hoogan are identical to the Tzolk'in. The east, west, south and north faces have 3 lengths and the corners have 2 lengths. The faces of the Tzolk'in have 3 trecenas, and the corners have 2 trecenas. The door to the hoogan faces east. If viewed in 3D, the jaguar trecena would go across and above the door to the hoogan. This is where the light shines into the hoogan as the sun rises in the east. If viewed 3D in your mind, this is where thoughts enter your mind. Also, your internal flame is the cast iron furnace in the center of the hoogan, just as shown in the Madrid version of the Tzolk'in.

Furthermore, Dr. Carl Calleman goes into detail about the eight partitions of the human mind in his book "The Mind and the Rise of Civilization". He even references this topic in that book on page 14.

There is a noted difference between face people and corner people. Corner people stir things up. It's their nature to do this. Face people don't have that power. Yet, the way the trecena pattern works, the face people rely on the corner people to have their intentions offered to the collective consciousness. When the energy begins on 1-Crocodile, the energy of the past five trecenas ended, on 13-Light. The entire south side of the Tzolk'in Clock goes dark. Its intention has been fulfilled. On 1-Crocodile the entire east face and corner of the Tzolk'in Clock lights up. The energy builds from 1-Crocodile, to 2-Wind, to 3-Night, to 4-Seed, etc. This energy builds up through the trecena. On 1-Crocodile, all of the 1-Crocodile people pour their intentions into the collective consciousness. And the next day it builds to 2-Wind. And builds and builds until 13-Reed. That day begins a higher trecena. It starts on 1-Jaguar and builds until 13-Transformer. That day begins on 1-Deer, the 3rd trecena on the front face. After that trecena begins 1-Light. 1-Light is the first day of a corner trecena. The corners not only pour their intentions into the collective consciousness, they flow like a flag or a spoon. The corners spray the intentions that started with 3-face trecenas into the collective consciousness, like seeds from a flower. The two 7 days (7-Transformer and 7-Storm) are especially free to spray their intentions of the entire 3-tracena face and 2-tracena corner into the collective consciousness. And then after 13-Serpent, the entire face and corner go dark. It is time for the north face and corner to do their work, starting on 1-transformer.

Timing the Tzolk'in Clock

Your birthday day is the day to let the world know your intentions, "to make a wish". And, the world will listen. People naturally want to be with people born on their day. You also learn about the day's energy when being around people on their day. People born at night may take on either of the day's energy. Here is how the change from day to day occurs: As the sun sets, the energy of the next day will emerge. At midnight, the levels of energy cross. As the sun rises, only the energy of that day will be present. As the sun sets, the energy of the next day gradually emerges. Both energies are shared during the night. People born at night will feel which energy is right for them; which energy was in their first breath.

I had the pleasure of receiving photos from Kathleen Wildwood (Storytelling, Alternative Healing, Energy Healing, Spiritual Healing, Music Healing | Kathleen Wildwood). I added the Madrid codex version of the Tzolk'in to include more detail. I also compiled all four photos for a 3D effect.

Jaguar trecena on the Tzolk'in Clock

1 Jaguar	The jaguar energy gets its own trecena. And, like a cat walking over a doorway, this trecena walks over the doorway of the east face.
2 Eagle	Try to stay focused today. Share who you are with a friend. Use the height of an eagle and both eyes to view your spiritual landscape.
3 Wisdom	After viewing yourself, you have new wisdom. Let it sink into yourself.
4 Earth	Where is your flint? Today is the day to find the tools you need to shape the landscape of yourself.
5 Flint	Today is the day to look inside and decide what you want to remove. It's similar to gardening, and today is the day to trim.
6 Storm	Your spiritual wind is blowing into your mind to feed the furnace of your soul and keeping your flame alive.
7 Light	Today is a rebirthing experience. All of the darkness removed on 5 flint and swept away by 6 storm is now raw and bare and ready to receive light for new growth. Shine light on the seeds that you planted this Tzolk'in round. Contemplate their fruition today. Take a walk to free your minds creativity. Your mind is your sanctuary and walking brings calmness, placid waters, and union with god.
8 Crocodile	We have collectively crossed from the left side to the right side of the Tzolk'in Clock. When the currents of life are swift, use the strength and stability of crocodile. Look out with your eyes for messages today.
9 Wind	Your new intentions will bring your thoughts/seeds into reality. Your mind is fertile soil where new ideas, seeds and plants form your reality.
10 House	With 10 fingers and 10 toes, it is a good day to work around your house, your mind, your body, and your senses, with Jaguar energy.
11 Seed	Your reality is being affected now. Be aware of situations that change your way. Such as something breaking so you end up somewhere else and meet someone special. These are the days to be thankful.
12 Serpent	This is a day of social awareness and our connections with others.
13 Transformer	It's a lovely energy today. There's calmness to it. It's a "Sunday" on the trecena. As the sun sets tonight, the energy of 1 deer begins.
